PATRIOTISM, GRATITUDE, ETC.

100,000 PORTO RICANS.
THE DEMOCRATS' TURN.

AGAIN European papers emphasize the fact that war debt problems are to be solved, simply by not paying anything to the United States. French papers say that Europe now presents "a united front to the United States," and this country must yield as gracefully as possible.

If the gentlemen welch, of course, they will welch. But the debts will be kept alive, in our memory at least. And when Europe, in its next war, which will come when Russia, Germany and Italy feel strong enough, arranges a new series of "united fronts" of a different sort, we shall be observers, not shipping any men or any billions.

And, so for the debts, there are more ways than one of collecting from a dishonest debtor.

OUR POPULATION is changing without our knowing it. We exclude Asiatic immigration but Asiatic Filipinos come in tens of thousands because their islands are "American soil."

For the same reason Porto Ricans come in great numbers, good workers, like the Filipinos, doubtless, but a new element in our population. There are 100,000 Porto Ricans now in New York city alone, tens of thousands more coming in.

A difficult problem, especially in these unemployment days.

DEMOCRATS are in Chicago, preparing for their turn, with bands, keynotes and demonstrations. Questions of importance are three.

What will Democrats invent to steal wet votes from the Republican wet plank?

Will Governor Roosevelt, with nearly 600 votes to start, almost grasping the reins of the bandwagon, prove too strong an attraction for unattached delegates to resist?

Will former Governor Al Smith begin the proceedings with an attack on Governor Roosevelt, delivered by Smith in person, that will change the outlook?

Many editors and wets underestimate the importance of the Republican wet plank. It is not a mere evasion.

IT CONFESSES that prohibition is a failure and that is a great deal to confess.

It says also that the constitution must be changed in a constitutional manner, and no one denies that.

It insists on keeping the fine things that prohibition has brought, but that nonsense is a mere sop to Anti-Saloon leaguers.

The Republican party has gone wet, and that is the biggest news since the country changed to a bootleg liquor basis.

EDWARD ROCHE HARDY JR. entered Columbia university at 12 years of age, graduated at 16, learned 17 languages as a boy, knows almost everything that you can learn by heart and now, at 24, is "elevated to the Protestant Episcopal priesthood in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine."

The 17 languages are not as useful to Dr. Hardy as they would have been when the gift of tongues was so important. He teaches Greek in the general theological seminary, and that must be a satisfaction. Knowledge, in itself is a delight.

GASOLINE, OIL TAX TO BRING IN 12 MILLION

New Federal excise Rates Will Cost Ohio Motorists That Sum

LEADING FIRMS RAISING PRICES

Tire and Rubber Companies Mark Up Prices 11 to 15 Per Cent

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, June 20.—New federal excise taxes on gasoline and motor oil, effective Tuesday, will cost Ohio motorists approximately $12,000,000 annually, according to an estimate today by W. T. Holliday, president of the Standard Oil company of Ohio.

"In addition to the new federal tax, Ohio motorists are now paying about $40,000,000 a year through the four cent state tax on gasoline," Holliday said.

Fifty Cents in Taxes

"With the new tax on motor oil and the combined state and federal tax of five cents a gallon the average motorist will contribute over 50 cents every time he fills his car with gasoline and oil.

"Since 1925, when the first tax was imposed on gasoline in this state, gasoline prices have declined about seven cents a gallon. The steady rise of taxes, however, has deprived the motorist of most of this reduction.'"

Advances of one cent a gallon on all grades of gasoline and one cent a quart on motor oil, the amount of the tax, have been announced by the Standard, and other leading companies are expected to take similar action.

Tires Are Checked Up

NEW YORK, June 20.—Leading Tire and Rubber companies will observe the inauguration of new federal excise tax schedules tomorrow by marking up prices from 11 to 15 per cent.

This increase will take care of the added 10 per cent tax, and will leave a little over for added sales profit.

The rubber industry for over three years has been operating under the heavy handicap of declining prices—both for crude rubber and for finished products—and welcomes the increase as a boon. Some executives believe it may

Dr. Sharp won two first prizes on hybrid delphinium and Mrs. White received second in the unnamed rose display.

Among the Salem people who attended the show Saturday afternoon were Mrs. Metzger, Mrs. William Silver, Mrs. W. H. Young, Mrs. W. E. Bunn, Miss Jane Metzger, Miss Pearl Walker, Mrs. F. J. FIRE DESTROYS HOME IN LISBON

LISBON, June 20. — A Lisbon family, including husband, wife and ten children were homeless and destitute today, dependent for shelter and food on the village's charitable institutions, following a fire which Saturday night destroyed their home in Pleasant Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. William Garwood and theih 10 children, in hard circumstances because of the husband's lack of employment for an extended period, were forced to stand by, helpless, as flames razed their small home, destroying furniture and other personal belongings with a loss estimated at $2,000.

The loss is not covered by insurance.

Garwood's family was aided by the village's emergency unemployment relief organization for the last few months when Garwood was thrown out of work.

Neighbors joined to provide food and shelter for the family Sunday and last night while today the village's welfare organizations are conducting a campaign in the group's behalf.

The cause of the fire is undetermined. The Lisbon fire department was called to the blaze at 10 p. m. but was unable to combat the blaze, which had gained much headway, because of the lack of water.

Nightmare Proves To Be Real Thing

CANTON, O., June 20.—Several cracked ribs and chest bruises today told M. H. Conrad, Canton attorney, that a nightmare he experienced early Sunday morning was the real thing.

Conrad had gone fishing near Coshocton. He rolled up in a blanket and went to sleep beside his automobile to await daylight. A party of Akron motorists pulled up at the same spot to fish and the wheels of their automobile ran over Conrad's chest.

Awakened from a sound sleep when the car passed over him, Conrad shouted and the driver put his car in reverse and backed, running over the prostate man a second time. His injuries are not considered serious.

Tugs Whistle, Planes Swoop And Roar---Amelia's Home

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Amelia Earhart Putnam, the girl who didn't want any fuss made over her just because she happened to be the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic, came home today, still insisting that her flight to Ireland was merely a "personal gesture."

"It meant nothing at all to aviation," she said, and added that in her opinion women have been overpraised for their achievements in flying.

Accompanied by her husband, George Palmer Putnam, publisher, Miss Earhart arrived on the liner Ile De France. They were taken off at Quarantine aboard the city yacht Riverside, where a score of widely known fliers waited to greet the tall slim young woman.

While tugs whistled, fireboats sent columns of water high into the air, and airplanes swooped and roared, the Riverside proceeded to the battery, where a crowd of 5,000 or more waited to give Miss Earhart her second welcome home.

One of the first to greet her as she came aboard the Riverside was Elinor Smith, who had herself been planning a trans-Atlantic solo flight when Miss Earhart beat her to it.

Some one asked her what she thought about during her night alone over the Atlantic.

"You don't have time to think much—at least not about yourself with relation to your plane," she said. "If you start thinking about yourself, it's fatal."

SMITH FORCES REACH CHICAGO

Open Headquarters above Suite Occupied By Roosevelt Chief

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, June 20—The Democratic presidential contest, revolving just now about undecided New York and her two embittered prominent sons, governor Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith, moved rapidly ahead today at convention headquarters.

20, Doomed to Die, Give Rest Of Their Lives to Science

Strange Rendezvous With Death About to Begin In Chicago

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 20.—Twenty persons doomed to die of a disease called incurable by the medical science have volunteered the rest of their lives so scientists may chart their "steps to death' and possibly benefit others similarly afflicted.

To the 20, the experiments of the Lasker Foundation for Medical Research at the University of Chicago will be a march to rendezvous with death but to science their contributions may mean a cure or a preventative for the strange Bright's disease.

Disease of Middle Age

It is one of the "diseases of the middle age" which accelerate the path of millions, who have passed 40 years of age, to death.

Announcement that the 20 volunteers, all in the early stages of Bright's disease, had been obtained and the experiment was about to start, was made yesterday.

It will be the first major attempt to study the malady and it was made possible by a gift of $1,000,000 from A. D. Lasker, wealthy advertising executive, and Mrs. Lasker, with the provision the money be used for research into degenerative diseases of the middle age.

The usefulness of the 20 volunteers will end when they die, and while they live, they will receive the best of medical attention.

May Increase Span

The foundation has been making studies of "middle age diseases" for four years and its director, Dr. Franklin C. McLean, said:

"The understanding we have reached concerning the diseases may lead, in 25 years, to a great increase in the span of life after middle age."

CONGRESS NEAR SESSION'S END

Hopes to Ring Down Curtain Saturday On Historic Term

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Congress pitched in today to clear up its remaining big legislative problems with the definite intention of ringing down a final curtain next Saturday on this history making session.

Of all the extraordinary tasks congress has been engaged in since last December to aid the government and the people in a period of great distress, just two remained to be acted on finally: Slashing federal expenditures and providing some clear-cut federal relief for the unemployed. Both questions were tackled today.

The national economy bill, after a hectic career which has seen it torn up and rewritten time and again, was brought back to the house for settlement of a final difficulty. A vote was sought on whether to stick by the proposition of reducing government salaries by a flat percentage or to yield to the furlough plan asked by President Hoover. Many leaders believed the house would yield, thus sending the bill and its approximately $150,000,000 of savings to a place beside the billion dollar tax law, which it must help to balance next year's budget.

The senate tackled a still harder problem in the relief question, the bill under debate was the Wagner (Democratic) proposal for $1,500,000,000 increase in the reconstruction corporation's borrowing power and $500,000,000 bond issue for public works.

Separated from this bill was the senate $300,000,000 measure providing direct relief loans to states. The house had pigeonholed it temporarily, but President Hoover called leaders of both parties into a conference Saturday night to urge its passage.

FREDERICKTOWN MAN SHOOTS AT 2 NEAR GARAGE

Hears Noises, Fears Burglary Plot and Opens Fire

EAST LIVERPOOL YOUTH IS KILLED

Companion Recovering; Declares they Had Been On Fishing Trip

One person was killed and another was wounded in what county authorities report as an attempted burglary of a Fredericktown garage in Fredericktown, five miles north of East Liverpool on the East Liverpool-East Palestine highway, at 11 p. m. Sunday.

Ralph Miller, 23, of East End, East Liverpool, was almost instantly killed when T. Hasson Dailey, 25, of Fredericktown, opened fire with a shotgun after he reported he heard noises near the garage in th rear of his home.

Companion Wounded

Clifford Goodballet, 24, also of East Liverpool, was wounded with 20 buckshot in the back and left arm, and today is being held in county jail at Lisbon, together with LeRoy Wingett, 23, also of East Liverpool, while county authorities are investigating the case. Wingett was not wounded. He was said by police to have been seated behind the wheel of an automobile waiting for his two companions.

Both Wingett and Goodballet denied, when questioned by East Liverpool police and Deputies George Hays and [illegible]iam Virden, that they were att[illegible] to burglarize the Dailey [illegible]

They said tha[illegible] been fishing in a creek [illegible]dericktown and were wal[illegible] to the automobile when [illegible]denly opened fire without [illegible]

Miller was shot in the back of the head and died almost instantly. Goodballet was taken to the East Liverpool City hospital where his condition was diagnosed as not being serious, after which he was taken to the county jail with Wingett by Deputies Virden and Hays.

GIRARD COUPLE DROWN IN LAKE

Francis Lynch, 24, Virginia Randall, 18, Pitched From Speed Boat

(By Associated Press)

ERIE, PA., June 20.—A young man and a girl drowned in Lake Erie after falling from the top of the cabin of a semi-speed boat yesterday.

They were Francis Lynch, 24, and Virginia Randall, 18, both of Girard.

W. E. Bowen, owner of the boat, told coast guards that the craft tilted suddenly and threw Lynch and Miss Randall into the water. They were unable to swim.

W. E. Lawrence and Thelma Sensabaugh, also of Girard, were members of the party. They were enroute to Conneaut, O., on a pleasure cruise. None of the survivors could locate the place where the accident occurred.

Double Wedding

CHARDON, O., June 20.—Rev. M. W. Bevington officiated at the double wedding of his daughters in the Methodist church here yesterday.

Miss Edna Bevington became the wife of Stanley C. Mizer of Bakersville, O., and her sister, Margaret, married Hunter Phillips of Coshocton.

No "Warm-Up"

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 20.—Mr. Hoover says he is not going out and lectioneer for the job. That's kinder like a pitcher says, "I don't need to even warm up against this team."

I believe if some one of the Democratic candidates would say the same thing he would be nominated. For the Democrats have lost many an election between June and November.

This is one year the more a man promises the less he will be believed. Voters are not going to vote for a man this year with any hope of him helping 'em any, they are just going to vote for him for———?

Well I don't believe they will even go to the trouble of voting. They have lost everything else so they are afraid they might lose their vote.

Yours,
Will Rogers

POSTPONEMENT

The senate's adverse vote on payment of the bonus postpones the inevitable day when both houses of congress will give in to World war veterans. It was to safeguard national financial stability that the proposal was rejected by the senate this time. The house which yielded to the veterans' demand from home and the mob of bonus marchers in Washington, demonstrated what will happen eventually.

On the whole, it would be vastly beneficial if the bonus could be paid in full immediately. Thousands of needy veterans would be assisted and thousands more, no needier than the average citizen, would spend the money and stimulate business. This has been the substance of the argument for payment. Spokesmen for the veterans have claimed that the two and one-half billions of dollars required can be produced with ease.

No responsible officials of the government agreed. They refused to consider payment on the grounds that financial stability would be threatened, perhaps destroyed. Opposition also was offered on the grounds that the bonus was not promised on demand, but in 1945 when funds sufficient to pay it had been accumulated. An important principle was at stake. But the principle was not so important as fear that payment of the bonus would destroy the government's already doubtful financial stability.

There can be little doubt about the bonus being paid before it is due. Considering the effect of the veterans' demands on congressmen, the sooner it is paid the better; there will be more time for legislation in the broad national interest when it is out of the way. There still will be the fight on pensions, but it can not possibly produce so much trouble as the government's attempt to be as fair as possible to its soldiers by promising them something in 1945—when common sense warned that 20 years would be too long to wait.

SHORTER HOURS

When political parties pledge themselves to work for certain reforms it is fairly certain that the reforms already are on the way. Politics is largely a matter of making certain what people are going to do and taking advantage of their movement in those directions, to give the appearance of leadership.

It is interesting to know, therefore, that the Republican party's declaration in favor of the principle of a shorter working week and shorter working days in government and private employment comes at a time when more than 2,000,000 workers are on a five-day week. President Green of the American Federation of Labor estimated last spring that, if all who wanted work were to be given work, 35 hours a week is the maximum that could be given.

Political advocacy of the shorter day and shorter week will be far less valuable to this new cause of organized labor than the hard facts of business that have made it necessary to cut working time during the depression. Patience on the part of labor and necessity on the part of management will be more potent factors than windy declarations.

SAN SABA, Tex.—A narcotic plant called "sneeze weed" has been spread through lowlands around here by recent floods, according to Dr. Lewis, veterinarian. After eating the weed, cattle stagger, fall and remain in a stupor for hours. Dr. Lewis advised cattlemen to keep their stock in the uplands.

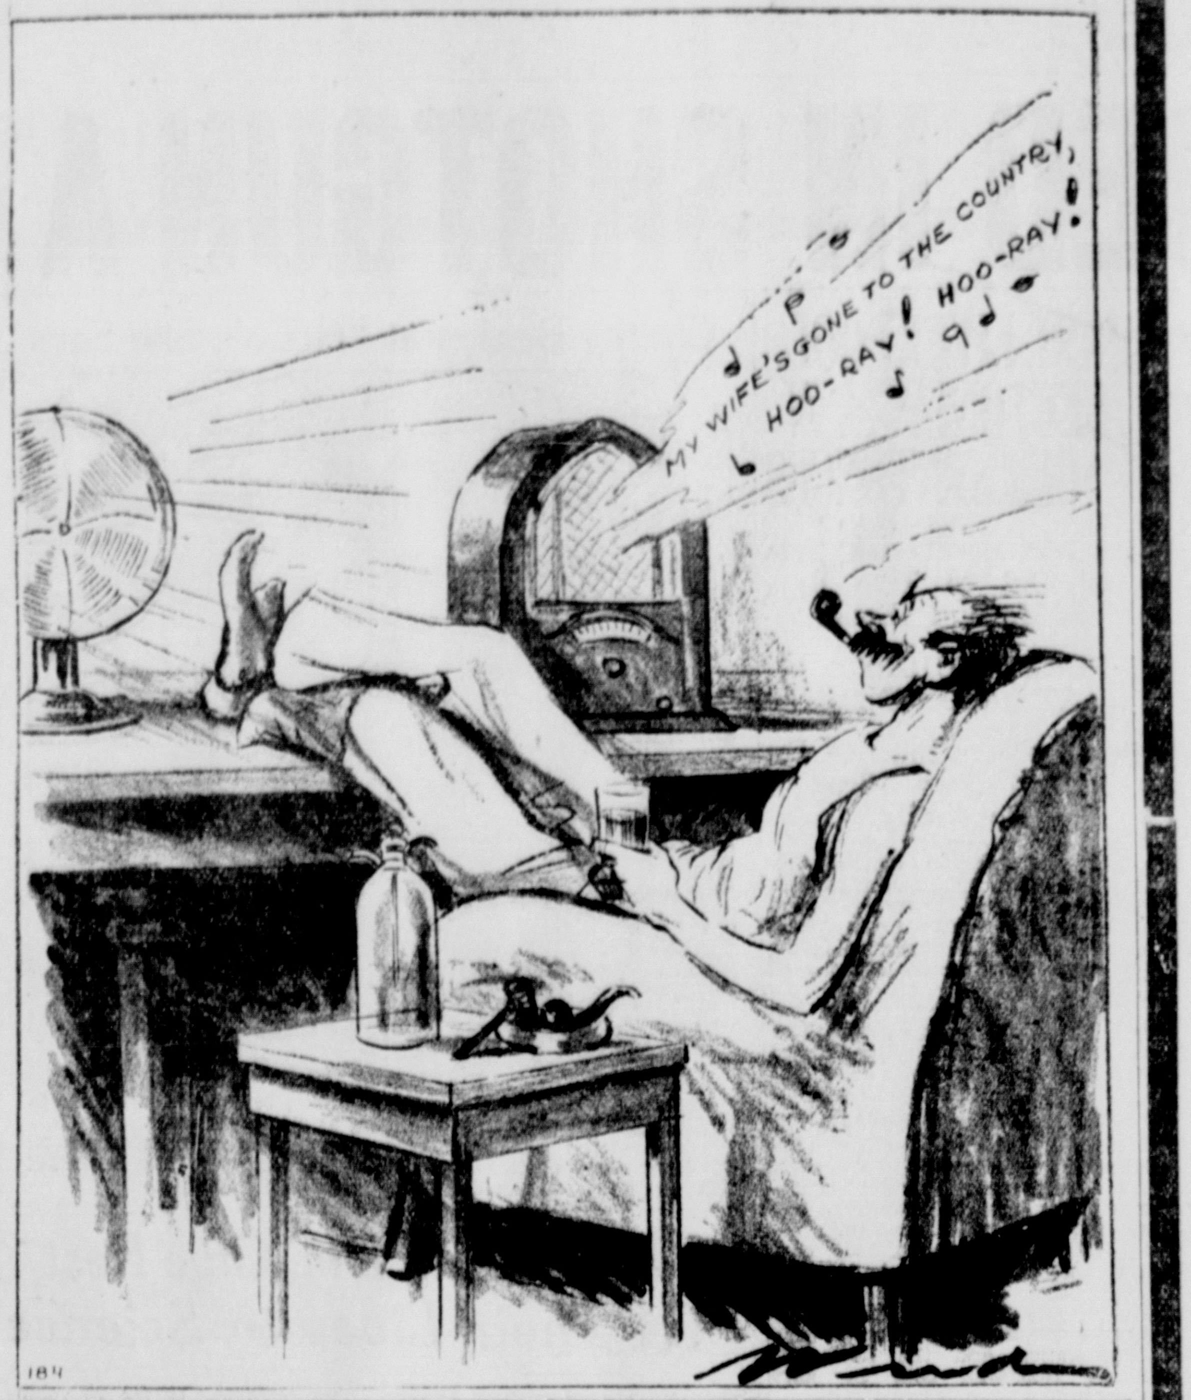
"The Forgotten Man"



MY WIFE'S GONE TO THE COUNTRY, HOO-RAY! HOO-RAY!

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 20—Diary of a modern Pepys: Talking to Basil Woon and to Jim Tully and with Hattie Belle Johnston to see her late husband's novel, "Limpy," filmed, but little of it left to recognize. Albert Chic Sale's portrayal of an unwanted old man, as always, especially moving and fine.

Typwriting a spell and with Lisle Bell for a prowl of the water front and fell to picturing a fish monger in spats, monocle and with a British accent sophanoing; "Piscatorial prizes!" all vastly comical to us. Then with the Aubrey Eads and Grover Clevesland to Mrs. Elbert Garys for tiffin.

Sadie and Hugh Murray to dinner and to "Show Boat," the only revival I ever saw superior to the original. So driving the Murray's home and, dismissing the car at 72d st., afoot through the park. Near the Mall it came on to rain and we huddled in a shelter house watching lightning fork vividly across the sky.

To some—well, one anyway—New York's extravagantly eulogized finest have settled into chronic apathy. They have not the spruce alertness of the days they wore helmet and carried the mace. The usual sprightly gait is an indifferent shuffle. They lean against buildings in cross-legged indolence, huddle in areaways for surreptitious drags of cigarets and often their club dangle from shields. It is possible they are touched with a lethargy that has swept the world. Whatever it is there is a noticeable lack of the disciplined instinct once thrilling us all.

Now and then visiting the Bronx Zoo I wonder at the lukewarmness of natives for this entrancing clump of greenery. Visitors are mostly out-of-towners. To me there is high fun in hunting for suggestions of humanity in the macaronic exhibits. The cage of brooding vulutres—Wall Street. And the chipmunk that is a Clarence Mackey. A seal double for Vincent Lopez, an eagle recalls Jules Broulatour, a fox with preternatural bright eyes, Roy Howard, a screech owl, Irving Caesar and it must have been Chaplin got his grotesque walk from a penguin. There is, too, a certain rattlesnake—but never mind! O, yes, and the turtle that sticks out his head like George Jessel.

At the Aquarium, too, are doubles for Helen Morgan, Barney Gallant, Frank Craven and one wide-eyed Japanese specimen is a ringer for that old sweetheart of mine, Marie Dressler.

Personal nomination for the most finished restraint among the movie actors—Roland Young.

There is an electrical machinery magnate, with a crop of bushy hair, who has a barber from Pittsburgh every two weeks to trim his locks and I know another gentleman whose barber accompanies him to Europe. Yet I think the most exacting of all is a hotel proprietor who will not have a trim save between midnight and 1 o'clock in the morning.

I recall that period when the singeing process—fresh from Cincinnati's Burnett House—added a tonsorial splendor to the shops back home. Most of the regulars at Mace Robinson's gazed upon it in a sort of dumb awe. With the exception of the local wit who dropped in during one of the ministrations. "Finding them with a light, are you?" he cracked to Mace. Incidentally, one of my border riders reports a club breakfast plan of barbering in mid town shops these days. For instance, in one, No. 3, consists of a shave, hair cut, rinse and massage for 90 cents.

A veteran enthusiast of the Sport of Kings is Gottfried Walbum. Everybody along Broadway knows "Pop" Walbum, burly and sturdy at 86. He came from Germany as a lad and once owned the Saratoga Race Track, inaugurating that picturesque pageant, "the parade to the post."

A yellowed clipping, anonymously in the mail today, was an editorial written doubtless during a major panic of long ago. In thick black despair it moaned: "The skies were never so threatening or the future so starkly terrifying. Food riots quicken the tension. The horror of civilization in collapse threads the public thought. We are, the mightiest of all nations, utterly adrift."

And here we are again the same old fraidy cats. Just awhile ago a hall window curtain fluttered and I sat breathless, waiting for a Kreuger or somethin to vault over the sill.

What Others Say

"IS MARRIAGE ON THE SKIDS?"

In June, if ever, marriage statistics should be interesting. Because Reno sticks up as conspicuously as a flaming wart on a powdered nose the idea that marriage is a failure has filtered into many minds.

The June number of Good Housekeeping has dug into statistics and presented them in an article captioned. "Is Marriage on the Skids?" The figures present a negative answer, arrived at by taking the total of marriages of records and the total of divorces. The census bureau did this in 1930, with the result that all divorces equalled one to something over 140 marriages.

This does not necessarily mean that all people who do not seek divorce relief are happily married, but it does mean that the great majority of married people are sticking to their views. The cynics would argue that they grin and bear it. But the cynics are rarely right. —Toledo Blade.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, June 21

The astrological interpretation of today's lunar transits stresses the necessity of routine activities, with affairs confined to accustomed grooves as it might prove difficult to overcome tenacious obstacles or frustrating forces. Many benefits may be derived from real estate or tenancies, and elders bay be favorably inclined. But be wise in treating with employers.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of routine affairs, unless they are engaged with lands, property, agriculture or mining. There may be impediments and obstructions to negotiate, but elders may prove friendly, but be careful not to jeopardize employment. A child born on this day should be studious, practical, industrious and should attain success by hard work, plodding and steadfastness.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Don't Neglect Child's Eyes

Small children at play are always getting dirt and sand in their eyes, and none but the gentlest measures should be used in attempting its removal. Rubbing the eyes may cause sharp particles to penetrate the cornea, with very serious consequences. Washing the eye with cool boiled water, used in an eye-cup, will sometimes help. If this simple expedient fails, the services of a physician should be sought.

DR. COPELAND

An inflammation of the eyes known as "conjunctivitis" is common in children. The eyelids become swollen, the child shuns the light, and there is a profuse caterrhal secretion from the eyes. This condition frequently accompanies a head cold, since it is easy for the garms to enter the eyes from the nose.

The Basic Cause

Contagious diseases, especially measles, usually are accompanied by such an inflammation of the eyes, and frequently the eye trouble may not subside, even when recovery from the disease seems complete. In such cases, unless proper teratment is followed, a chronic conjunctivitis may result. Then it is difficult to cure, and causes the little patient great suffering and disfigurement.

Inflammation of the hair glands of the lid is common in children who are not physically fit. Small blisters may form on the edges of the lids, and in the morning the eyelids may be stuck together. A simple eye wash and the application of a little olive oil will give relief.

The real source of such a condition is constitutional, although some defect in vision or eye strain may be the direct cause. A general building up of the body with good nourishing food, assisted by pure cod-liver oil as a tonic, will hasten recovery. In school children an eye test should be made.

Treatment of a Sty

Another disorder of the eye is a painful infection of a hair follicle, known as a "sty." The eyelid becomes swollen and painful and the symptoms grow worse for several days. Finally a small, pin-like spot appears, and a discharge of pus follows. Bathing with a warm solution of boric acid is the regulation treatment, but if sties become a habit, the cause must be sought.

Muscular weakness of the eyes, as shown by cross-eyes, is caused by unequal strength of the muscles of the eyeball. Some cases can be corrected by exercises or by the use of glasses, but if such a condition is neglected for any length of time, the only cure is an operation.

The old-fashioned idea that a child will grow out of such an eye defect has brought sufering to many a little child, giving him the reputation of being stupid, making him backward in school, and giving him a sense of inferiority. Proper and immediate treatment should be given any eye defect in a child.

Court News

Common Pleas Entries

A verdict for $42.27 has been returned by a jury of six in favor of the plaintiff in the appeal case of Jerome Eagleton against Levi Anderson. This was the first time attorneys have agreed to have issues tried to a jury of six which in this instance was composed of three men and three women.

Leave has been granted the defendant to file an answer and cross petition at once in the case of The Machelin Tire Co., against Edgar C. Sheen.

The court ordered a directed verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the case, of F. G. Ackerman against The Ellsworth Chevrolet Co., and one was returned for $208.71. The case was heard on appeal, and after some evidence was introduced, the court ordered the verdict.

A jury was taken to Salem to view the location on East Third street where an automobile wreck occurred recently between cars owned by Matthew L. Hans and Samuel R. Koenreich. Hans later filed an action to recover $2,500 damages, and the issue is now before the court.

Fail To Appear

After a default judgment had been entered in the court of Justice of the Peace W. H. Calvin in St. Clair township for $137.87 in favor of T. M. Carpenter against The Dairymen's Co-Operative association, an appeal was taken to common pleas court. A jury was first demanded in this case, and before one was sworn, an adjouurnment was requested, and the cause continued. When se tfor trial again, representatives of the defendant company did not appear. An appeal beard bond has been filed with the transcript.

Through its counsel, W. H. Vodrey, of East Liverpool, the Green County Unicn Bank of Greenville, Tenn., has filed an action in common pleas court here against the East Liverpool Potteries Co., of Wellsville, to recover $1,823.65, claimed to be owing as a balance on a note for $2,235 executed Feb. 8, 1929, and signed by C. A. and S. W. Vann and the defendant corporation.

Wins Divorce Decree

All issues were not determined when the divorce action filed by Leona Mae Fugate against her husband, George Fugate, was called for trial before Judge W. F. Lones. A decree was obtained by the plaintiff on the ground of gross neglect of duty, and upon payment of costs, but all other issues, including the custody of a minor child, have been continued for further trial and decision by the court.

Would Sell Bonds

J. C. Van Peet, special deputy in charge of the liquidation of the Citizens Savings Bank of Salem, has filed an application in common pleas court for authority to sell $5,000 bonds held as assets of this institution. The application relates that for a block of $3,000 4½ per cent Franklin, O., sewer bonds a bid of 95 has been made and for a block of $2,000 Village of Parma bonds there is an offer at 50. The latter block is in small denominations and the last bond is not due until 1940.

Driven to Suicide?

New Jersey State Police have come in for much criticism as a result of the suicide of Violet Sharpe (above), maid at the Englewood, N. J., home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow. Ernest Brinkert, White Plains, N. Y., taxi driver, arrested following Miss Sharpe's death has been cleared of any complicity in the Lindbergh kidnaping and the theory now is that the girl took poison rather than face the ordeal of further questioning—innocent of any wrong-doing though she was.

Here Comes the Bride!

What is so rare as a day in June without a wedding? You needn't answer, but there is a distinct rarity in seeing a girl married by her father. Here is the blushing bride, Miss Jean Lavarack Bowie, of New York, being escorted to the altar at Grace Church by her brother, Beverly. The Rev. Dr. Walter Russell Bowie, her father, rector of the church officiated at the ceremony in which she was united to the Rev. Theodore Hubbard Evans of Amherst, Va.

Dolls As Decorations

Grown-up ladies who still cherish a fondness for dolls are taking advantage of the current fad to spread them all over the place; so don't be surprised if you pick up an engaging little bit of taffeta and chiffon in a friend's home and discover that there's something quite useful beneath.

If the telephone must be in the living-room often it is buried under an amply-skirted doll. The little table lamp in living-room or bedroom hides, when not in use, under a doll of suitable size. Doll cushions and footstools, once relegated to the boudoir, have made their way brazenly to the living room, adding a pleasant note of frivolity, and occasionally an innocent doll of goodly size turns out to be a well-draped bottle or cocktail shaker.

Whatever one's opinion of such use of dolls by grown-up, this fad certainly offers wide scope for pleasing the youngsters. Little dolls and big dolls can be adapted to nursery necessities and prove both practical and entertaining. Doll corks make the contents of a medicine bottle fore palatable, while the doll-draped water bottle has a charm instead of terror for the tiny person in need of its ministrations. Brushes with china doll heads are gentle reminders of the virtues of tidiness.

Many of these items can be bought for small sums. They are also very easy to make up. The shops offer loose china doll heads in a variety of contours and sizes, also fabric heads that are more durable for small persons, and the designers are giving them new and alluring expressions. We now see very few patsy-faced or artificially angelic dolls. The modern doll has character and adds interest to home decoration.

RUSSELL-HOLE

When Miss Jean Masters Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas Russell, East Cleveland, was married Saturday afternoon to Maurice Edwin Hole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Robert Hole of Salem, she wore a white organdie and lace frock which had been the wedding gown 63 years ago of her grandmother, Mrs. T. M. Langan. Her mother, Mrs. Russell, was also married in the same dress 25 years ago.

The ceremony took place in the Euclid Avenue Congregational church, Cleveland, with Rev. Dr. Ferdinand Q. Blanchard officiating.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Kenneth Vincent Nicola, an April bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in green eyelet batiste with long, full skirt and ruffled neckline. Miss Mildred Graham, maid of honor wore a beige frock with green slippers and green hat.

Robert Hole of Pittsburgh was best man. Ernest Hole, another brother from Pittsburgh, with Frederick Russell, brother of the bride, and Lowell Ream, ushered.

The couyle received in the church parlors after the ceremony and a buffet supper was served for the families at the bride's home. Mr. Hole and his bride will motor east on their wedding trip. Both attended Wooster college.

Mr. Hole is employed by the Brook company, Cleveland. The couple will make their home there. Mr. and Mrs. Hole, parents of the groom, attended the nuptials.

FREDERICKTOWN MAN SHOOTS 2

Hears Noises, Fears Burglary Plot and Opens Fire

shortly after 11 p. m. by noises near the garage.

He said he dressed cautiously, armed himself with the shotgun and opened fire when he saw the two men attempting to break into the garage.

A series of minor burglaries and other thefts occurring in and near the village, Dailey told police, caused residents of the district to maintain vigilant lookout over their properties. His thoughts that the men may have been thieves responsible for other thefts prompted him to shoot immediately, he said.

No charge was filed against Dailey, Prosecuting Att'y. John E. Bauknecht stated.

He will be asked to appear in Lisbon for questioning this afternoon, being released on his own reeognizance.

Make Survey Along Creek

While Virden kept watch over the two men, Prosecutor Bauknecht, who joined the deputies in Fredericktown, and Hays conducted investigations along Beaver Creek where the two said they had been fishing and reported that they found no evidence to support their statements.

The officials also reported that a hasp had been torn from the door of the Dailey garage. Both the hasp and a lock to the garage, they said, were found near the place where the trio had parked their automobile.

Dailey used a 12-gauge, repeating shotgun and told officials he fired two shells. Thirty-five pellets lodged in Miller's body.

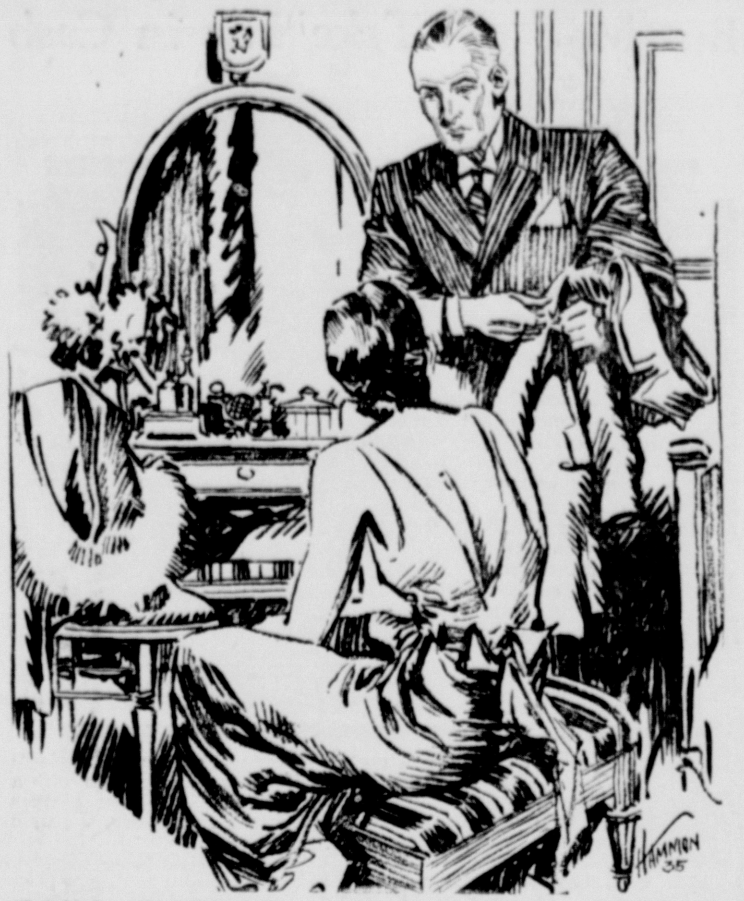
"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVICI-FRIEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.



"I told her that I had the scorpions in two boxes in my overcoat," Baldwin's letter read

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady," and her guest, Christine Quires are mysteriously murdered in the former's apartment. Scorpions were the instruments of death. The police suspect Guy Everett,, the last person to see Christine alive. Lola had blackmailed Everett. He, however, claims that Christine discovered a plot to kill Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt learns that a young Paris bank clerk named Basil Boucher, loved Lola. After robbing a bank to buy her a ruby, Basil disappeared. His parents sold medical laboratory specimens. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, became hysterical at the mention of Basil, calling her daughter a beast and saying Lola never loved him. Edward Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. He had stated heart failure caused the deaths. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead—from a scorpion bite! Mrs. Baldwin reveals that she knew her husband was involved with Lola. Detectives report Baldwin met a man who gave him a box. In Baldwin's desk the Commissioner finds a statement in which the doctor explains he accidentally poisoned Gaylord Gifford, Lola's husband. Lola's knowledge of this placed Baldwin in her power. She forced him to supply narcotics which she used to victimize her friends and later blackmailed them. Then she ordered him to obtain a scorpion to commit a murder. Baldwin learned that Vincent Rowland, the lawyer, was behind Lalo's blackmailing and realized his knowledge of their activities marked the doctor for death.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

"I told Lola that I wanted to see her alone. She consented and took me into the boudoir. I told her that I had the scorpions in two boxes in my overcoat, which I had thrown over my arm as I entered her bedroom. She became very eager and entreated me to let her see them. But I hesitated. I explained to her how dangerous they were. I told her that she ought not to take risks—of any kind. Then I looked her squarely in the eyes and told her that murder was a game that was always caught.

"She looked me in the eye quite as frankly and laughed. She demanded the scorpions and full instructions as to how to manage them. I gave her the boxes with strict instructions and then I started for the door. Just as my hand was on the knob, she called to me.

"I remember her words with the most detestable distinctness.

" 'Look here, Baldwin,' she said in her soft and always lovely voice. 'One of these days I may be sending for you on a hurried matter. I mean, somebody may be sick—taken sick all of a sudden. Understand?'

"I nodded. I felt I understood all too well. But I had no idea of the devilish reach of that woman's imagination.

" 'Well,' she drawled, 'if that ever happens, I can tell you right now what is expected of you. When you get here, you'll find somebody that's sick. When you do, look on their arm for a bite. On the arm, remember. Then stick your hypo needle right in the bite. Do you understand?'

"I do not know to this day how I stood there without crying out against such a fiendish, damnable scheme. Yet she was looking at me, smiling, serene, beautiful. Yes, I thought, the devil is a woman and the woman is Lola Carewe.

"Vincent Rowland did not answer when I bade him good-night I went home in the depths of despair. I tried to forget about it. I planned a trip out of town. I would not be there when I was sent for. But I was a coward—the worst coward in history. I was in too deep. I had done criminal things too long. There was no moral strength left for me to draw upon."

Here there was an interruption in this extraordinary manuscript. A smaller sheet of paper was laid between the leaves. On the top, I read:

"I have just been called to Lola's apartment—this New Year's Eve—while I was writing this."

And at the bottom of the page I read:

"Everything has happened—now I am back here—there can be only one end—"

Then the regular pages flowed on in the strong black script:

"Whom did she mean to kill besides myself? Often I debated that question. But she had so many irons in the fire, it might easily be someone I did not even know. I felt comforted by this reflection. But I was like a man walking in a nightmare. Then, only a day or so before New Year's, Lola telephoned me in a rage. Someone had stolen the boxes I had given her.

"The scorpions were gone!

"She blamed me. She accused me of having stolen them back. I had a key to the apartment which she had given me, for often she wanted me to come in and see her without ringing the bell and thus calling attention to my call. She thought I was weakening. She made me promise to get her more scorpions.

"To calm her, I promised that I would obtain two more scorpions. But I explained that it would again take weeks. The specimens had to be sent for. I would have to see my supply man, Ricardo Villafranca.

"However, I kept delaying, but finally did it. Imagine my surprise—my terror—when I received a call to come to Lola's apartment just a few hours ago. But my consternation was increased tenfold when I entered the room and saw the victim was Lola Carewe herself.

"I was in a panic. There she lay. I looked at her arms. She herself had been bitten by the scorpion. The mark was plainly there. In self-defense I said she had had heart trouble and then in self-defense I performed the trick which she had taught me. I put the needle into the bite, and thus obliterated all trace.

"But who killed her? Who killed Christine Quires—by the same deadly scorpion bite? I do not know. But I am going to get one more scorpion. After what I have done tonight—and the knowledge that Lola's papers will surely expose me—I do not care to live. Disregard all I said at the beginning of this letter—I truly die by my own hand."

Here, abruptly, the writing ended. There was no signature. Doctor Hugh Baldwin lay dead at our feet. Had he actually taken his own life, in horror and remorse? There seemed little doubt of that. But the accusations—veiled and specific which he had left behind—what of them?

The letter was not the end of the mystery. It was the beginning of a larger and more baffling problem.

The morning was almost gone; by the time we had finished reading that death letter of Doctor Baldwin, the hands were within fifteen minutes of noon.

Thoughtfully and deliberately, Thatcher Colt filled his pipe and lighted it. Then, having turned the suicide statement over to me, the Commissioner resumed his interrupted search of the office. As he slowly moved about, pausing before the most inconsequential objects and studyng them seriously, the chief discussed the latest revelations.

"It is a melancholy probability, Tony," he began, "that Doctor Baldwin could have saved three lives, his own included, had he had the manhood to come down to Center Street and tell me the facts. I could have protested that man from everything, disgrace in his own profession included."

"Looks like this blows up Dougherty's jewel-ring idea," I remarked.

Colt nodded.

"But Dougherty was on the trail of something real—something important," Colt replied. "It happened to be blackmail, instead of jewel thieves—but Dougherty was getting somewhere. More power to him, say I. I have had the Rock-Ribbed Securities Corporation looked up this morning. It was a bucketshop affair, and the officers have all shipped to South America."

Here the Commissioner paused to relight his pipe.

"That letter of Baldwin's is really very upsetting, about Rowland," he resumed, as he sauntered across the floor. "It reveals the interesting suspicion—for Baldwin seems to have no real proof as yet—that Vincent Rowland is a rogue. Suppose he is? Is he a murderer?"

"If he were the one he had every cause to be the other," I argued.

"And some semblance of opportunity—that is to say, he was on the premises last night. Right! If Rowland were frightened, he might be the man to take bold, decisive action. That has always been his method in his court-room battles,—spectacular affairs, always. Moreover, he might figure that these very three people stood in his way. And yet—"

He stopped short, leaving the sentence uncompleted, while he knelt by the body and stared at it moodily.

Railroad bonds have probably been deflated to a point unwarranted by the ultimate prospects for the better situated railroads. The railroad industry from the standpoint of physical service to the public end, likewise, from the standpoint of financial interest is so definitely and permanently interwoven in the economic fabric of the country that it must be protected.

A high degree of discrimination is advised though, even with respect to continued holding of railroad bonds, since prolongation of present traffic and earnings levels cannot fail to jeopardize the position of an increasing number of companies. The inadequacy of either the wage reductions or the freight rate surcharges in offsetting fixed charge deficiencies of a great many railroads this year, places the entire burden of maintaining their solvency upon the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

However, it is reliably reported that the Railroad Credit Corporation in co-operation with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Interstate Commerce Commission is preparing to meet the fixed charges during the current year of all carriers that are eligible for loans under the Railroad Credit Corporation plan. In view of the uncertainty of the railroad situation as a whole, purchases of railroad bonds for conservative purposes should be limited only to underlying mortgage issues of the best situated roads which, in the event of forced reorganization, would not be affected by a scaling down of capitalization.

Schmeling-Sharkey Ready For Gong In Title Battle Tuesday

COUNTRY CLUB TENNIS STARS WIN VICTORY OVER ALLIANCE

THE DAY IN SPORTS

FIRST ROUND ENDS SOON TITULAR GAME ON TODAY

THE LARGEST gathering of the city's softball fandom to witness a game this season is expected to Centennial park today when, weather permitting, the Salem Hardware and United Cigars, involved in a hard struggle for the first round championship, battle it out for the title. More than 500 fans are expected to witness the fracas.

Seven games scheduled this week bring to a close the first round schedule in the municipal circuit, undoubtedly the most successful ever organized here. The second round of play, with each team being scheduled to play ten games will begin next Monday.

A third round may also be played if the second round is played rapidly and ended by the last week in July. For this reason all teams are requested to report early for games and rush them through as quickly as possible.

Here are some of the highlights of the first round:

A thrilling one-hand catch by James Smith against the Ohio Edison . . . Earl Mays two long home run drives to defeat Mullins . . . consistent work on the mound by Eddie Miller . . . Charlie Stitt's verbal fracas with Umpire Early over the legality of Miller's pitching . . .

Joe Kelley's great all-around play . . . fine work by Martin Debnar at field and at bat against Ohio Edison . . . four hits, two doubles, a triple and home run by Forney off Lee Christen . . . the Greenisen Tire-V. F. W. game . . . the annihilation of the Tires by Mullins . . . when 28 runs were scored on 13 hits and 18 errors . . .

Officiating of George Early . . . Arnold Seeds' hitting . . . large attendance of fans, averaging 350 to an evening . . . the strict adherence to rules by all teams . . . .

HAIFLEY-DAVIS STAGE SURPRISE IN 5-4 VICTORY

Salem Doubles Team Defeats Grimes-Scott In Feature Duel

GRIMES OUTCLASSES EMENY, 6-0, 6-0

Harwood, Davis, Roth are Singles Winners In Thrilling Matches

A surprise victory gained by the doubles combination of Robert Davis and Wilbur Haifley gave Salem's Country club tennis squad a 5-4 triumph over Alliance All-Star racqueteers in interesting battles at the Salem club courts Sunday afternoon.

Defeat Grimes, Scott

After holding the invading squad even, 3-3, in singles contests, the Salem team took two out of three doubles matches to gain the verdict, Davis and Heifley winning unexpectedly over the star Alliance duo, Leo Grimes and Scott.

It was Salem's second victory of the season, the team being billed to oppose Cuyahoga Falls and Robert Nihousen, state interscholastic champion, at the club next Sunday afternoon.

Leo Grimes, No. 1 player of the Alliance squad, handed George Emeny, Salem star, two bad reverses, taking two love sets, 6-0, 6-0, to start the Stark countians off in the right direction.

Davis Trims Heestand

Scott made it two straight for Alliance with a 6-3, 8-6, triumph over Oscar Tolerton, while Bob Davis pulled through with Salem's first win, 6-1 and 6-3, over Glenn Heestand.

Eddie Diehl won over Kenneth Jewell in two of the hardest matches of the day, both going 8-6 before Jewell was forced down to defeat. Dick Harwood overcame Dick McCullough, 6-3, 6-3, while youthful Christian Roth defeated P. Kline, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-1, in the final singles match.

The doubles contests were among the most interesting played here in years, Davis and Haifley staging a sensational dope upset when they played great tennis to triumph over Grimes and his partner.

Tolerton-Harwood Win

The Tolerton-Harwood combination clinched the victory for the Quaker team, winning over Kline and McCullough while Emeny and Jewell lost to Heestand-Diehl, 8-6, 3-6, 8-6.

Singles

Grimes (Alliance) defeated Emeny, 6-0, 6-0.

Scott (Alliance) won from Tolerton, 6-3, 8-6.

Davis (Salem) beat Heestand, 6-1, 6-3.

Diehl (Alliance) won from Jewell, 8-6, 8-6.

Harwood (Salem) defeated McCullough, 6-3, 6-3.

Roth (Salem) defeated Kline, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

Doubles

Davis-Haifley defeated Grimes-Scott, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

Tolerton - Harwood defeated Kline-McCullough, 6-4, 6-1.

Heestand-Dielk won from Jewell-Emeny, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Bass Fishing Good For Coach Stone

Floyd W. Stone, head athletic coach of Salem High, will testify to the fact that fishing is good in the Salem district.

Stone, now on his summer vacation from development of championship athletic teams here, returned to this city for the opening of bass fishing season, and went back home with several husky, three-pounders to his credit.

He snagged them at Beaver Lake, near Columbiana.

Heaving to a World's Record

All previous shot-put records yielded to this mighty heave by Leo J. Sexton, of the New York Athletic Club, who broke the world mark by hurling the 16-pound ball a distance of 52 feet, 8⅝ inches at the Olympic semi-final tryouts in the Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass. The former record of 52 feet, 5¾ inches was held by E. Hirschfield of Germany.

ALLEN, ROBUSCH SET NEW VAULT RECORD; SALEM WINS LAURELS

Quaker Stars, Alliance Athletes Annex District A. A. U. Crown In Akron Meet; Fred Cope Is Winner In Two-Mile Race

Lowell Allen's team of Salem-Alliance track and field stars gained championship honors of the Northeastern Ohio A. A. U. as they scored 56 points, four more than the total amassed by Cleveland thinclads, in the annual Amateur Athletic Union meet staged at Buchtel field, Akron, Saturday.

Set New Vault Record

Allen and William Robusch, also of Salem and former captain of the University of Pittsburgh track squad, collaborated in the establishment of a new pole vault record when each cleared 12 ft. 10¼ in.

Another Salem star, Frederick Cope, flashy distance runner, created a new record in the two-mile race when he ran the event in 10 min. 15 sec. Wilford Brantingham finished second in the race with Erwin Beck, also of Salem, running in the distance race for the first time, placing fourth.

Place In Discus

Robert Cope and William Smith placed second and third in the discus throw, won by Pete Rasmus (Ohio State) with a toss of 143 ft. 5 in., while Salem relay teams placed in both mile and medley races.

Raber and Grimes of Alliance, competing for Salem, won firsts in the javelin and shot put, respectively.

Erwin Beck pulled a surprise when he beat Harold Horstman, fast-running teammate, to the finish for second place in the mile run, won by Sharon McMullen of Akron. Beck gave McMullen a real race, losing out in the last five yards.

Henry Reese took fifth place in the 220-yd. low hurdles, won by Seitz of Cleveland in 23 sec.

BECK, ROESSLER PLACE

Salem Stars Win Honors in A. M. A. Contest At Pittsburgh

Keith (Mutt) Roessler cleared 12 ft. 6½ in. to win second place in the pole vault in the Allegheny Mountain Association meet at Pittsburgh Saturday.

Edwin Beck cleared 12 ft. 3 in. for fourth place in the event.

Beck and Roessler, together with Lowell Allen, William Robusch and Fred Cope, will compete in Olympic tryouts at Cincinnati Saturday.

Sammy Drakulich clouted four hits and scored two runs for Lew Sheen's baseball club but the team dropped a 4-3 verdict to Lake Park in a ten-inning battle at Lake Park Sunday.

Drakulich, playing his first game for the Sheenmen, starred at bat and behind the plate, but errors by Flavell in the final frame proved fatal to the teams chances of winning.

Hrovatic, pitching for the losers, fanned nine rivals.

Blasting Way to British Title

Though you cannot see the ball in this picture, it is on its way out of the sandtrap in which Gene Sarazen found himself during the first round of play in the British open golf championship at Sandwich, Eng., recently. Gene blasted his way to victory with a record score, marking the ninth year that the title has come across the Atlantic to America. Sarazen is a New Yorker, you know.

Lehnis Clouts Homer, Joe Schwartzoff Stars In Field In 6-2 Win

Playing errorless ball behind the veteran Tom Israel, Lake Placentia' strong baseball club subdued the Akron Independents, 6-2, at Placentia Lake Sunday afternoon.

A large crowd witnessed the game, features of which included a home run by Lehnis, a fast double play by the Placentia infield, and Joe Schwarzoffs fine work in the infield. Schwartzoff accepted 10 chances without a misplay.

The lakers oppose New Cumberland, W. Va., in their game next Sunday. lineup:

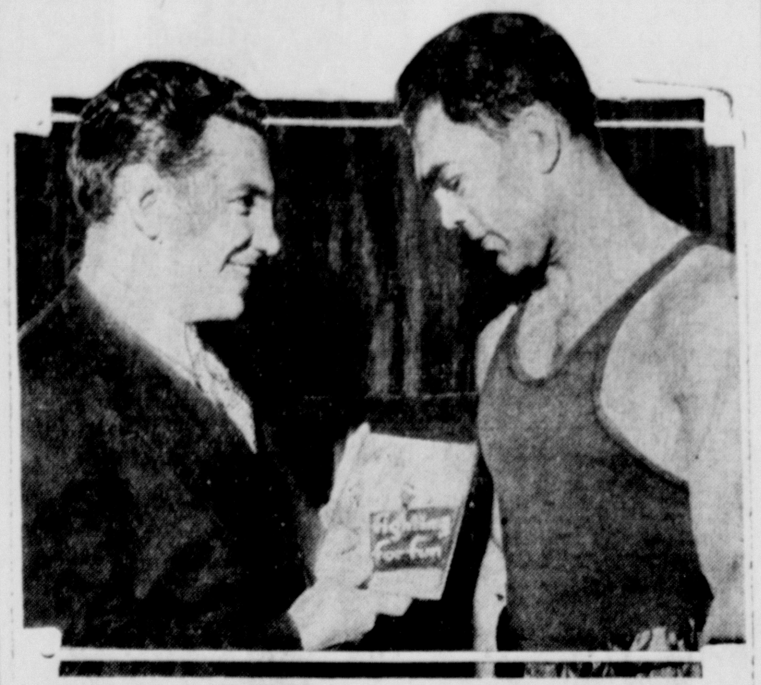
TRY THE SALEM NEWS

But Max will Take His in Cash



Perhaps Eddie Eagan (left) was trying to influence Max Schmeling's views on the manly art when he presented the German champion with a copy of his new book "Fighting For Fun." Eagan, American Rhodes scholar, did just that for he formerly held the world's amateur Olympic heavyweight title.

Indians Win Two From Boston; Take 3rd Place in Loop

Cleveland's Indians were right up there where every Ohioan thinks they belong, in third place in the American league race, following a double victory over the Boston Red Sox in a twinbill at League park Sunday.

Brown Hits Homer

Clint Brown, slamming the horsehide into Lexington ave with two on base and who also pitched great ball, was the hero of the first game, won by the tribe, 9-3, while Sarge Connally, touched for 15 hits in the nightcap, nevertheless won his game, 6-3.

Washington Senators dropped an 8-5 decision to the Detroit Tigers to lose the third position to the Clevelanders.

Take a medium sized blanket, put it over the National league field, and the only clubs that might be left out in the cold would be the first-place Chicago Cubs and the last-place Cincinnati Reds.

Cold figures would put it this way: The Boston Braves, in second place, lead Pittsburgh's Pirates by one game, with the Phillies, Brooklyn Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants in a virtual tie for fourth place, two games behind the Pirates.

Cubs Gain Ground

The Cubs, idle yesterday, nevertheless gained ground, their lead going to three and a half games when the Braves succumbed to Silas Johnson and the Reds, 5-0. Concord, Mass., friends of Catcher Bob Asby, presented him with a check for $1,000 and Bob responded with a home-run in the fourth inning.

Two more red tallies came across on George Grantham's drive into the bleachers in the fifth. Johnson gave the Braves five hits.

Singles by Paul Waner and Pie Traynor in the eighth drove in two runs and gave the Pirates a 2-1 decision over Brooklyn with Heinie Meine chalking up a pitching victory over William Watson Clark. The Cardinals, with Jim Bottomley back at first base, trounced the giants 7-0, behind Tex Carleton's two hit pitching.

Allen Blanks Chisox

The New York Yankees, stretched their American League lead to seven and a half games as John Allen blanked the Chicago White Sox on three singles, 1-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics split even with the St. Louis Browns, winning the second game 6-3, after dropping the opener, 3-2 in 10 innings. Leroy Mahaffey's muff gave the Browns the deciding run in the first game. Jimmy Foxx clouted his 26th homer.

DUNN EDEN WINS ONE-SIDED TILT

Kensington Easy Victim of Lakers In 19-9 Contest Sunday

Dunn Eden tossers displayed great power in overwhelming Kensington Independents, 19-9, in a one-sided game at Dunn Eden lake Sunday afternoon.

The Dunnmen piled up a 10-1 lead in the first four innings then coasted the rest of the way. Jim Smith hurled for the victors.

Homers by Bradt, Grall and Mehnert were features.

Dunn Eden will face the strong New Castle, Pa., Lincoln all-stars next Sunday.

CHAMPION STILL RULES BETTING; BOTH IN SHAPE

Both Battlers Ready For 15-Round Setto To Decide Title

BOSTONIAN CERTAIN HE'LL BEAT GERMAN

Max Greatly Improved, Great Fight Is Forseen; Small Gate Expected

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 20.—The training grind is over for Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey.

Booked For 15 Rounds

They've polished up their weapons and built up strength, stamina and speed through six weeks of intensive work. Now they're ready for their 15-round battle for the heavyweight championship in Madison Square Garden's new outdoor arena on Long Island tomorrow night.

Most experts expect the fight to go the limit.

The betting remained extremely light today with the champion still favored at 6 to 5.

Schmeling wound up his training at Kingston, N. Y., with a five-round workout yesterday and left a crowd of 3,000 fully convinced he is in top form for his title defense.

Sharkey Weighs 203

At Orangeburg, N. Y., another capacity crowd saw Sharkey box four easy rounds before breaking camp. The challenger weighed 203 pounds.

Schmeling has been down as low as 188 pounds recently, but probably will scale 190 or more for the fight.

Sharkey can gain nothing but glory—and the title—under any circumstances for his share of the gate receipts is only 10 percent, hardly enough to cover his training expenses.

The Boston tar wants the title and confidently expects to win it.

But Sailor Jack will face a vastly improved fighter tomorrow. Max has learned fast in the last two years. Der Maxie was an impressive fighter a year ago when he stopped Young Stribling in 15 rounds, in his first title defense. And he has advanced several strides since then.

Estimates of the probable receipts vary from $250,000 to $400,000 and of the attendance from 40,000 to 60,000.

Reese All-Stars Win Again, 16-10

Joe Reese'e Masonic all-stars won their second straight game from Earl Beardmore's hopeful mushballers, 16-10, at Centennial park field Saturday.

Davis and Kelley toiled for the losers while Al Sanders tossed them over for Reese's hirelings.

They'll clash again next Saturday afternoon in the third game of the series that will run all summer.

Ready for Matrimonial Plunge

Already famous in national and international aquatic circles, Mickey Riley, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and Georgia Coleman, diving and swimming champion, of Seattle, Wash., are rumored to be contemplating taking the matrimonial swim together. Dame Gossip is insistent that the aquatic stars will march to the stately music of Lohengrin after the Olympics, in which both are expected to scintillate.

Last Rites for Morrow Maid

The casket containing the remains of Violet Sharpe, the English maid who committed suicide in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, is shown as it was borne from the Greenleaf Chapel, Englewood, N. J., where the last rites were held. British Consul General E. H. Gerald Shepherd placed a wreath on the casket on behalf of his government, which has requested an investigation into the girl's death. The burial took place in Brookside Cemetery in a plot not far from the grave of Senator Dwight Morrow.

Lovely Polo Fan

In olden times knights tilted with lances while their ladies fair sat in the grandstand and applauded their efforts. If they were so badly knocked about as to be unable to hear the applause—well, that was just too bad. Now, however, polo is the game played by modern knights for the amusement of milady. Here's Thelma Todd, beauteous screen player, watching a recent game at Hollywood. She looks as if she's enjoying it, too.

Death Investigated

Boston police have started a rigid investigation following the finding of the body of this girl, known as "Jean Calloway," on a lonely road near Woburn, Mass. Police believe that the girl was deliberately run over by an automobile after a drinking party at the North End of Boston.
